Nay, rather is it shapen in this fashion— A living heart, Dashed all across with scarlet stains of passion And broke in part;

While from its open wound comes softly dripping Like slow tears shed, On heavy drops, along Thy footstool slipping, Its life-blood red.

It needs no balm of myrrh for sweet or bitter, But life and love;
The sad conditions makes mine offering fitter
Thy heart to move.

From all these chains of cruel wrong and anguish,
This load of grief,
Wherewith my soul doth pant, and mourn, and Give me relief!

In Thy far home is not Thy soul still tender For mortal we?

Hear'st Thou not still amid that spotless splendo:
The seraphs know?

Oh, turn Thy human eyes from heavenly glory ! Say as before Those tenderest words of all Thy gospel story—
"Go. sin no more."

Smith, Edwards & Co.'s Monthly Cotton

LIVERPOOL, June 1.—The past month has been one of frequent oscillations in feeling, but the prevailing tone has been one of duliness, and we close at %d decline on the quotations current on the let pitting.

one of frequent osciliations in leeting, but the prevailing tone has been one of duliness, and we close at %d decline on the quotations current on the 1st ultimo.

At the date of our last report a heavy feeling prevailed; middling uplands were worth 11d, and fair Dhollerah 93d. The public were surprised at the large scale of American receipts, which had reached 50,000 bales, for the last week in April. The following week rose to the extraordinary figure of 59,000 bales, and a depressed feeling was caused here; uplands landing were sold as 10w as 10½d, and Dhollerah, May shipment, at 9 5-16d. A sudden revolution of feeling occurred the next week: the American receipts fell off to 35,000 bales, and the off-repeated prediction again reappeared that the crop was finished. Attention was also strongly directed to the continued small shipments of cotton from Bombay—the deficiency to all Europe having by that time run up to 226,000 bales. Quite a speculative spirit was exhibited here for some days; large operations took place in arrival cotton, and prices advanced ½ to ½d ₹ 1b, bringing middling uplands and Orleans almost to 11½d and 11½d, both on the spot and to arrive, and April-May shipment Dhollerah to 9½d. The first check was given to the market by the news that the arrivals of cotton in Bombay had increased very largely, the second week of May being 30,000 bales, against 33,000 bales same week last year; this was a blow to those exaggerated notions of Indian deficiency which were then prevalent. The next check to the market was a very large import, say 120,000 bales, in the third week of May, which brought our stock up to 590,000 bales. Simultaneously with this, the "irrepressible" receipts in America again increased, and reached 44,000 bales that week. The joint effect of these various influences was to demoralize the market, and a very heavy feeling set in, which has lasted almost unabated till now. Prices steadily declined, and middling uplands were sold landing as low as 10½d, and Orleans at 10½d, while May s point of the month; middling uplands worth 10%d to 10%d on spot and to arrive; fair Dhollerah 9%d to 0%d on spot and 9d for May shipment.

Manchester market during the past month has been more subdued in tone than in any previous month this year; there has probably been less actual business transacted, but the great extent to which the trade are working under contract has prevented any material decline, and we think, upon the whole, there has been more steadiness in Manchester than in Liverpool. There still appears to be no difficulty in disposing of the large production of Lancashire, but the remuneration to the producers is not great.

The consumption of cotton we do not consider to have undergone any change, and still place it at 54,000 bales per week for the Kingdom.

The prospects of our market do not at present offer many important features to comment upon; they have not altered in any very material respect since our last issue, but the tendency has been in the direction of larger supplies of the raw material for the remainder of the year. The estimates of the American crop have been enlarged each month since the commencement of the year, and instead of three millions which we gave in our last circular as the probable result, we would now put 3,100,000 bales against 24,000 bales last year, and wo do not hear as yet of exhaustion at any point. The news from America has, however, lost much of its interest, and greater attention is now given to Bombay. The in creasing deficit from that quarter was up till lately the stronghold of the speculative feeling here; but opin on has much changed since the heavy arrivals of the past few weeks were known. It seems probable that the total arrivals in Bombay for the month of May will be about 300,000 bales, against 143,000 last year, and do not change in any important degree the views we have already expressed, but they have evidently altered the basis upon which many operators here were acting. We now incline to think that the deficit in exports to Europe, which at pre

The snipments from Catecuta and mastias also continue very small and considerably below last year. We are led to believe that Calculta will continue so, but it is premature to express an opinion about the result of the Madras crop, as the new cotton is only beginning to arrive, and there is much uncertainty as to the yield.

One feature has attracted much attention of lets viz. the large clearances from Bombay by

One feature has attracted much attention of late, viz: the large clearances from Bombay by steamers. Several enormous cargoes have recently left for the Suez route—one of them 11,000 bales—and it is thought that the total exports by that route in May will nearly sum up 100,000 bales. The consequence is that we will have as liberal arrivals of Surat cotton in June and July as at any time this year, and our stock will be swelled in the summer months oy a large share of the Indian crop that would formerly have been on the water till September. It therefore seems probable that our stock in this port cannot be materially reduced during the next two or three probable that our stock in this pot two or three materially reduced during the next two or three months, and it will be very difficult in conse quence to bring about or sastain any important ndvance and much more capital expended on fertilizers and improved implements of husbandry. Already there are predictions of a crop of three and a haif millions for next year, and although any such opinions at present are the merest guesses, yet a state of feeling is indicated thereby which has an important bearing on the prospects of our market.

In connection with this, we may remark that already several contracts have been made here and in Manchester for the shipment of the new crop in October and November; the prices paid are various, as also the terms of sale, but the average was about 10½ if or middling uplands, de livered in Liverpool.

erage was about 10½d for middling uplands, de livered in Liverpool.

We are not inclined to look for much further de-cline this summer. There is still a remarkable deficit in the supply visible for England compared with last year, say-1870. Stock in Liverpool.....

Total..... 935,000

American cotton is not likely to run so low. There is but little surplus for our spinners to draw from, and they cannot afford to go largely into stock without starting prices here. At present they hold very little stock, and this will be an element in favor of our market should any news reach us from America unfavorable to the growing crop. We have not here alluded to the great increase in the stocks on the Continent, as compared with lest year. It will reduce our export demand durin the stocks on the Continent, as compared with last year. It will reduce our export demand during the remainder of the season, but it appears that the consumption of the Continent has also increased materially, and there are few signs that it has received any real surplus beyond what its consuming power can deal with.

The general prospects of our market appears to point to tolerable stability of prices—a state of things more advantageous to consumers than to things more awantageous to constitute in the speculative operators, and we are not inclined to look for a further decline at present. It seems more lifely that a slight improvement will take place when the trade begin to buy more freely, astern rent seen declined to the place when the trade begin to buy more freely, astern rent seen declined to the place when the trade begin to buy more freely, astern rent seen declined to the place when the trade begin to buy more freely, as the place when the place when the trade begin to buy more freely, as the place when the place w as they must soon do.

THE LIFE SUSTAINING OR-GANS .- The two organs which minister most directly to the support of the body, are the stomach and the liver. In the former the first procees of digestion takes place under the action of that powerful solvent, the gastric juice. Thence the food, converted into a pulp, passes into the duo denum, where it is subjected to the action of the bile or gall, flowing from the liver, and of the fluid generated by the pancreas, or sweetbread of the system. These secretions separate the nutritious portion from the rest, and it is then taken up by the absorbent vessels and conveyed into the channels of circulation in the form of venous blood, while the waste matter is discharged through the bowels. Unless all these processes are duly performed, disease of some sort is inevitable, and the best of all medicinal agents for preserving or restoring the tone and regulating the action of the three organs-the stomach, liver and intestinesby which the three-fold work is carried on, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Indigestion is generally accompanied by constipation, and the general cathartic operation of the Bitters is no less important in cases of this kind, than its tonic effect upon the stomach and the biliary gland. Beauty of person as well as health, depends in no small degree upon the regularity of the excretive functions. A sallow complexion, a thick, opaque coarse skin, a tainted breath, rush of blood to the head, loss of memory, headache, and extreme mental depression, are the usual accompaniments of costiveness. A course of the Bitters will infallibly relieve, and finally banish these obnoxious symptoms, while invigorating the stomach and promoting healthy action in the liver. The genial vegetable stomachic and alterative, strikes at disease in its primary sources, the assimilating, secretive and expulsive organs and the cures it effects are consequently thorough jun10-6D&C

LABOR -LABOR IS CAPITAL. Bestow good health upon a man, so that he can labor every six out of seven days, and no matter how poor he may have been at the commence ment of life's great race, he will be certain to accumulate a fortune, provided he takes care of his earnings. PLANTATION BITTERS is certain to make the weak ones strong, and to preserve the health of the healthy. From four to six hours is considered the ordinary limit for brain work. At the expiration of this time the phosphorus is carried off, and the man becomes irritable and nervous. If he is poor, and continues on at his task, as most of poor doctors, lawyers and editors do he will be certain to shorten his days and fill an untimely grave, as did Sir Walter Scott, unless he uses PLANTATION BITTERS, which speedily restores his vital energy, repairs his indigestion, and corrects the sluggish circulation of his blood.

QUALITY STILL FURTHER IMPROVED.

We beg leave respectfully to call the attention

As ten years have now clapsed since we first in troduced them to the notice of the American put inc, we deem it the notice of the American pub-inc, we deem it unnecessary at present to enter into a lengthy description of their merits, &c There is hardly a city or town of any note in the country into which they have not found their way. The reason of this widespread popularity way. The reason of this widespread partirely to and daily increasing demand is owing entirely to their peculiar excellence and intrinsic worth. Being determined to make them the Standard Ex-lieing determined to make them the Standard Extracts of the day, we have still further improved their quality, and now we firmly and honestly be lieve that they stand without a rival. Our Vanilla Extract cannot be surpassed for richness and delicacy of flavor. It is a strictly pure and highly concentrated Extract of Vanilla Beans. It short, we think it the best that is made, at least, this is the decision of the best judges in the country. We don't pretend to compete in price with many of the so-called Fivroring Extracts of the day, which are really but worthless compounds undescript of the name.

For quality and style, we defy competition.
